August 2006

GEORGE BUSH PRESIDENT of the UNITED STATES signed an agreement in Waco, Texas 2005 to merge THE STATE OF TEXAS with Mexico and HAVING NO BORDERS by the YEAR 2010.

The Plan To Replace The Dollar With The 'Amero'

By Jerome R. Corsi, 5-22-06

The idea to form the North American Union as a super-NAFTA knitting together Canada, the United States and Mexico into a super-regional political and economic entity was a key agreement resulting from the March 2005 meeting held at Baylor University in Waco, Tex., between President Bush, President Fox and Prime Minister Martin.

A joint statement published by the three presidents following their Baylor University summit announced the formation of an initial entity called, "The Security and Prosperity Partnership of North America" (SPP). The joint statement termed the SPP a "trilateral partnership" that was aimed at producing a North American security plan as well as providing free market movement of people, capital, and trade across the borders between the three NAFTA partners:

We will establish a common approach to security to protect North America from external threats, prevent and respond to threats within North America, and further streamline the secure and efficient movement of legitimate, low-risk traffic across our borders.

A working agenda was established:

We will establish working parties led by our ministers and secretaries that will consult with stakeholders in our respective countries. These working parties will respond to the priorities of our people and our businesses, and will set specific, measurable, and achievable goals.

The U.S. Department of Commerce has produced a SPP website, which documents how the U.S. has implemented the SPP directive into an extensive working agenda.

Following the March 2005 meeting in Waco, Tex., the Council on Foreign Relations (CFR) published in May 2005 a task force report titled "Building a North American Community." We have already documented that this CFR task force report calls for a plan to create by 2010 a redefinition of boundaries such that the primary immigration control will be around the three countries of the North American Union, not between the three countries. We have argued that a likely reason President Bush has not secured our border with Mexico is that the administration is pushing for the establishment of the North American Union.

The North American Union is envisioned to create a super-regional political authority that could override the sovereignty of the United States on immigration policy and trade issues. In his June 2005 testimony to the U.S. Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Robert Pastor, the Director of the Center for North American Studies at American University, stated clearly the view that the North American Union would need a super-regional governance board to make sure the United States does not dominate the proposed North American Union once it is formed:

NAFTA has failed to create a partnership because North American governments have not changed the way they deal with one another. Dual bilateralism, driven by U.S. power, continue to govern and irritate. Adding a third party to bilateral disputes vastly increases the chance that rules, not power, will resolve problems.

This trilateral approach should be institutionalized in a new North American Advisory Council. Unlike the sprawling and intrusive European Commission, the Commission or Council should be lean, independent, and advisory, composed of 15 distinguished individuals, 5 from each nation. Its principal purpose should be to prepare a North American agenda for leaders to consider at biannual summits and to monitor the implementation of the resulting agreements.

Pastor was a vice chairman of the CFR task force that produced the report "Building a North American Union."

Pastor also proposed the creation of a Permanent Tribunal on Trade and Investment with the view that "a permanent court would permit the accumulation of precedent and lay the groundwork for North American business law." The intent is for this North American Union Tribunal would have supremacy over the U.S. Supreme Court on issues affecting the North American Union, to prevent U.S. power from "irritating" and retarding the progress of uniting Canada, Mexico, and the U.S. into a new 21st century super-regional governing body.

Robert Pastor also advises the creation of a North American Parliamentary Group to make sure the U.S. Congress does not impede progress in the envisioned North American Union. He has also called for the creation of a North American Customs and Immigration Service which would have authority over U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) within the Department of Homeland Security.

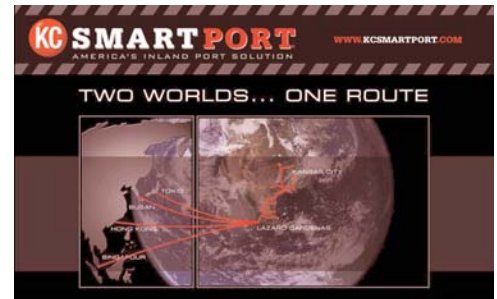

Pastor's 2001 book "Toward a North American Community" called for the creation of a North American Union that would perfect the defects Pastor believes limit the progress of the European Union. Much of Pastor's thinking appears aimed at limiting the power and sovereignty of the United States as we enter this new super-regional entity. Pastor has also called for the creation of a new currency which he has coined the "Amero," a currency that is proposed to replace the U.S. dollar, the Canadian dollar, and the Mexican peso.

If President Bush had run openly in 2004 on the proposition that a prime objective of his second term was to form the North American Union and to supplant the dollar with the "Amero," we doubt very much that President Bush would have carried Ohio, let alone half of the Red State majority he needed to win re-election. Pursuing any plan that would legalize the conservatively estimated 12 million illegal aliens now in the United States could well spell election disaster for the US Republican Party in 2006, especially for the House of Representative where every seat is up for grabs.

A SPECIAL INVITATION; to all Texas military personnel. We need to come together and take our Nation back NOW. I am asking for you to come to the aid of the standing functional Texas republic which is a fully lawful backed Nation holding signed and sealed International Treaties with several Nations not Corporations. Two of those are united States of America and Mexico.

The lawful Nation of Texas encompasses certain lands in the so called Corporate STATES OF TEXAS, NEW MEXICO, COLORADO, KANSAS, OKLAHOMA, AND WYOMING. Ed Brannum republic of Texas 10th Congress Senator.

Positivism Is A Building Block For RT Victory

A citizen wrote her opinion about "the people" wanting input for this representative government? The good news is that we representatives allow the broadcast of our phone numbers and email addresses to be available for the people to express their opinions? I call that being on the inside track. Try to get in touch with those de facto representatives and you get a secretary. I believe our representatives want the people to get involved with moving our nation forward. I am glad she expressed herself, as expression is better than indifference to our nation and its needs. She loves Texas, and I appreciate such heartfelt concern, in her and others. Texas will never build victory on negativity or attract or sustain support; so, be positive in attitude.

The gall of bitterness is a roadblock not a good building block, but a roadblock to cooperation and healing and divides some while unity is the best way to move forward, and that does not mean people can't believe differently. Understanding and cooperation is a foundation for moving forward, and that is the reason for this, "let's express all with positive attitudes", message.

If you know the de facto powers do not have a right to run Texas, why not stand with us, until things are in the proper order? Then, we can work out our smaller differences, because we have regained control of our occupied country. In 1862 those Texians would have been thrilled to have the same opportunities we now possess for our national and political rights development. However, if you believe the de facto agents have a right to run Texas, why don't you stop fussing and fighting and simply submit? Of course subjects are debtors to obey their rulers.

We have sound hope and, false hopelessness is damaging to any cause. Open rebuke against the people doing their jobs as best they can makes the people feel that the whole thing is lost and a waste of time; so be positive. Don't create potential consequences when you voice or write your every cause for complaint (even if you are a little right). Hope for victory needs to permeate our correspondence so that the will to fight is not diminished or ruined. Reaping what you sow is still true. Planting the seeds of victory, with watering and weeding, is going to produce victory in its season.

Texas retained every issue of the building blocks we started with. There is still no Treaty of Annexation, fraud is still void at its inception (ab initio), the 1836 republic of Texas Constitution is still the law of the land, and the former turncoat congress and president still could not lawfully give away the government or the other properties of the people to another nation, because they did not own it, or have the delegated authority to do pass it off to others. I'm certain you can add to that list, if you choose to. Yes, we have the same causes and rights we began with and let's rejoice in the things we are in agreement about. When the issues Texas began with remain, and a Texian quits, guess who surrendered defendable ground. Not the fighters. If there is a problem, there is a solution.

Let bygones be bygones, by moving forward, instead of some self-imposed gloom, and I know, what you feed will grow. Texas will be a pleasant garden for you, if you choose.

God Bless the republic of Texas.

Larry Hughes,
President

A little of this ... a little of that...

This was passed on by someone who heard on one of Rice's tapes that if you can get the post office to cancel a stamp on a document, that whatever was in the document, was a done deal.

He says he tried it
and it worked!

Saying

"A judge and attorney had a law suit going against me. The judge had scheduled another hearing for me to appear. What I did, was write a document, 2 pages. I folded it in such a way that my name and address would appear to be the addressee. No envelope, just the 2 pages folded and stapled just like junk mail. I stapled it and dropped into the mail box. It was delivered to my PO Box with the (((stamp canceled.))) I then copied the document and sent the original to the judge. The judge dropped the case. The attorney dropped the case and sent the whole thing back to the bank.

In the document, I had ordered the judge to cease and desist with prejudice, and he did it!

The Choice is Yours

FAITH and VICTORY or fear and defeat

Problem: The more things you surrender to fear the more things you FEAR.

OR

Solution: The more things you surrender to FAITH the more things you have FAITH in.

Problem: The more you fear the more things you fear.

OR

Solution: More you have FAITH the more your FAITH will increase.

Problem: The extent to which you fear the more you surrender to fear.

OR

Solution: The extent to which you have FAITH the more you surrender to FAITH.

Problem: The more you surrender to fear the more you increase your capacity for fear.

OR

Solution: The more you surrender to FAITH the more you increase your capacity for FAITH.

Problem: The more you increase your capacity for fear the more you increase the power of fear in your life.

OR

Solution: The more you increase your capacity for FAITH the more you increase the power of FAITH in your life.

Problem: The more you increase the power of fear in your life the more you have the potential for being a loser in your life as far as keeping the outside pressures of adversity (inevitable) from becoming the inside pressures of stress which are optional.

OR

Solution: The more you increase the power of FAITH in your life the more you have VICTORY in your life as far as keeping the outside pressures of adversity (inevitable) from becoming the inside pressures of stress which are optional.

Problem: The more you EXERCISE your fear the stronger it becomes and the more you exercise your muscles of FAITH the stronger they become and weaken your muscles of fear as far as having control of your life.

CONCLUSION – The choice is yours, Texians. You can have victory in your life and bring honor and glory to our Lord and Savior. Join those with humility, who have their priorities straight, and place our Creator and His Word above everything else in life. This choice will bring the best potential for deliverance and restoration to our nation. II Chron : 7:14.

FAITH cometh by hearing and hearing by the Word of God . We must exercise this FAITH every opportunity that God gives us and refrain from exercising fear.

OR

You can be defeated by increasing the fear in your life through lack of your study of God's Word , thus instead of FAITH being the reality in your life fear will take its place and you will be negative, miserable, upset most of the time, ruled by your emotions instead of ruling them, making bad decisions, lacking friends, under stress, eventually this stress will lead to poor health and magnify any health weakness that you might already have and in general you will not be able to cope with life until you get your priorities straight. " MAN SHALL NOT LIVE BY BREAD ALONE BUT BY EVERY WORD THAT PROCEEDETH OUT OF THE MOUTH OF GOD." Matt. 4:4.

Fear knocked at the door -FAITH answered - no one was their!!
